in this book john morgan wynne examines the very different ways in which paul s epistles hebrews james luke acts john s gospel and matthew s gospel utilize the critical figure of abraham the father of the people of israel he explores the question of the extent to which various new testament authors developed something already present in the tradition and the extent to which they molded their depiction of abraham to suit their own purposes in novel and creative ways the book also considers how the diverse new testament depictions and interpretations of the patriarch affect the preaching of the abrahamic tradition today a fresh scholarly reading of grace in paul s theology in this book esteemed pauline scholar john barclay presents a strikingly fresh reading of grace in paul s theology studying it in view of ancient notions of gift and shining new light on paul s relationship to second temple judaism paul and the gift centers on divine gift giving which for paul barclay says is focused and fulfilled in the gift of christ he offers a new appraisal of paul s theology of the christ event as gift as it comes to expression in galatians and romans and he presents a nuanced and detailed discussion of the history of reception of paul this exegetically responsible theologically informed hermeneutically useful book shows that a respectful though not uncritical reading of paul contains resources that remain important for christians today receiving a letter from paul was a major event in the early churches given the orally oriented culture of the time a letter was designed to be read out loud in front of an audience the document was an intermediate state for the local transport of the message but the actual medium of communication was the performance event this event was embedded in the written text in a manner comparable to a theater script after careful preparation because of high expectations from ancient audiences a presenter embodied the message with his voice gazes and gestures and made it not only understood but jointly experienced after presenting a short history of performance criticism this book clarifies what is meant by the highly ambiguous term performance and develops steps to analyze ancient texts in order to find and understand the embedded signals of performance this leads to a critical assessment of the potential of performance criticism as a method then the method is applied to the pauline epistles and other early christian letters it proves to be highly rewarding difficult passages become comprehensible new aspects come to light the text's impact on the audience is felt in short the texts come alive throughout the new testament the gospel stories the sayings of jesus and the writings of paul not only teach a way of life that requires individuals to be moral but they demonstrate how in biblical studies character ethics has been one of the fastest growing areas of interest whereas ethics usually studies rules of behavior character ethics focuses on how people are formed to be moral agents in the world here editor robert brawley presents the most up to date academic work in new testament character ethics covering topics throughout the gospels and paul as well as focusing on the essential topics of forgiveness reconciliation politics and peacemaking in addition to brawley contributors are c clifton black neil elliot jens herzer l ann jervis sylvia c keesmat jae won lee j clinton mccann jr elna mouton c drew smith glen stassen willard m swartley allen verhey and jinseong woo
